SUDOKU

Like puzzles?
Then you'll love sudoku
This mind-bending
puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off,
so sharpen your pencil
and put your sudoku
savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Take On Spring Road Trips

5 tips to keep vehicles running smoothly

With the windows down and nothing but open road visible through the windshield, spring days often bring out the best driving conditions. When it's time to hit the pavement, make sure your ride is in tip-top shape following a winter of snow, salt and sand.

Give a Thorough Clean

All that winter buildup can lead to grime both inside and outside your vehicle. A deep clean including the undercarriage, engine bay and obvious areas like doors and windows can help eliminate salt buildup. Give the interior a scrub as well to get rid of trash, dirt, debris and unnecessary items that may be weighing down your car and hurting its fuel efficiency. Plus, that clean look and smell can make road trips that much more enjoyable.

Check (or Change) the Tires

Changing air temperatures can lead to fluctuations in tire pressure. As the weather warms, be sure to check tire pressure frequently to avoid overinflation that leads to wear. It's also an opportunity to check tread depth as it may be time for new tires altogether.

Change the Oil

While most experts recommend oil changes every 5,000 miles or so, depending on the age of your vehicle, a spring auto checklist isn't complete without checking (and possibly changing) the oil. Fresh oil keeps engines running as intended, and by changing oil in the spring, you can help ensure you're ready to hit the road for most – or all – of spring and summer.

Test the Wiper Blades

In many parts of the country, spring means rain. Ensuring wiper blades are ready to take on weather ranging from sprinkles to downpours is practical for maximizing safety on the road. Cold weather and ice can cause cracking on worn out wipers, which makes spring a perfect time to assess winter's damage.

Consider a Professional Inspection

If it's been a while since your vehicle was properly inspected, now may be a good time to have a professional take a look under the hood. Wiper blades and tire pressure are easy for many car owners to handle, but alignment, suspension, brakes and other key elements of vehicle safety and efficiency are often best left to those with trained eyes. Letting a certified mechanic assess your ride is a perfect way to ensure you're ready for the open road.

Horoscope

ARIES (Mar 21/Apr 20) You can get your spark back with some help from friends, Aries. You may have been struggling in one form or another, but others can provide the perspective needed.

TAURUS (Apr 21/May 21) Taurus, you are a dependable rock and that comes with a lot of responsibility. Sometimes you may feel overwhelmed, and in those instances feel free to delegate some tasks.

GEMINI (May 22/Jun 21) Too much joking around may strike a nerve of someone close to you, Gemini. Feel out every situation before you start communicating in such a laid back and jovial way.

CANCER (Jun 22/Jul 22) Cancer, like it or not, you have to stand by a promise or a commitment you made to someone, even if you no longer feel like doing so. Once it is finished, you can go your separate ways.

LEO (Jul 23/Aug 23) Leo, if others have underestimated you or written you off in the past, you will have an opportunity to prove them wrong this week, even if you already know the truth.

VIRGO (Aug 24/Sept 22) Your keen eye for detail has you pointing out a mistake that may have cost someone a lot of money, Virgo. Your reward could be a promotion or another commendation.

LIBRA (Sept 23/Oct 23) Making room for your needs right now is challenging as others seem to require all of the attention, Libra. You will have a chance to balance the scales soon enough.

SCORPIO (Oct 24/Nov 22) Right now you may be reluctant to commit or comment on an issue that is affecting some in your circle, Scorpio. You can get involved once you dig further and do your own research.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23/Dec 21) Sagittarius, when you hang out with friends, you may be tempted to spend more than is in your budget at the moment. Set a limit, and perhaps leave your credit cards at home.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22/Jan 20) Capricorn, you are ready to move forward, but others in your orbit may be holding you back. Know when to cut loose and do things according to your bigger vision.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21/Feb 18) Thinking about all of the things in your life that may not be going to plan could have you feeling down, Aquarius. Flip the perspective and start focusing on the right things.

PISCES (Feb 19/Mar 20) Pisces, you are known for being a dreamer, but right now you have to come down from the clouds and develop a solid plan of action. There will be time for fanciful ideas later.

What Is Gingivitis?

Gingivitis develops when plaque, tartar and bacteria build up on the teeth. This causes red, swollen and bleeding gums.

It's the earliest stage of gum disease, also called periodontal disease. Left untreated, it can lead to periodontitis, a more severe type of gum disease that involves bone loss in your jaw.

SYMPTOMS

Almost half of all adults older than 30 have some kind of gum disease, the Cleveland Clinic says. A symptom of gingivitis is bad breath, particularly the kind that doesn't go away, even after brushing. Also be on the lookout for gums that bleed easily, red and swollen gums, sensitivity to heat and cold, and tenderness or pain when you chew food.

CAUSES

Gingivitis is more likely to occur in men, those living in poverty, those with less than a high school education and people who smoke or use tobacco. Women who are pregnant or have other hormonal changes are also more susceptible, as are diabetics and people with a family history of gum disease. Some prescriptions and over-the-counter medications can contribute to gingivitis, the Cleveland Clinic says, especially medications that cause dry mouth. Medications that treat epilepsy, some cancer therapies, calcium channel blockers and some oral contraceptives can all cause dry mouth.

Gingivitis is the body's inflammatory response to plaque and tartar on your teeth. When plaque and tartar stay on your teeth too long, it irritates the gums. It's not contagious, though people with gingivitis can spread bacteria through saliva-to-saliva contact.

DIAGNOSIS

If you have symptoms of gingivitis, talk to your dental professional. Your dentist will look for signs of bleeding, infection, loose teeth and gums that are pulling away from your teeth. Dental X-rays can show whether you've lost any jawbone underneath. You may be referred to a periodontist, who is a specialist in gum disease.

TREATMENT

Gingivitis treatment involves controlling the infection. You'll have your teeth cleaned thoroughly to remove the harmful bacteria, plaque and tartar. Depending on the severity of your disease, a dental professional may recommend scaling and root planning, a deep dental cleaning and smoothing the surfaces of the roots of teeth so that bacteria doesn't stick.

Improved oral hygiene will greatly help, including scheduling regular check-ups. You may be prescribed an antimicrobial mouthwash.

Why Is Flossing Important?

© ADOBE STOCK

Brushing is important, of course, but so is cleaning between the teeth where the brush cannot reach.

Flossing will keep plaque—a sticky biofilm of bacteria and food particles that form on the surfaces of the teeth—at bay.

Plaque can cause gingivitis and calculus, which is plaque that has absorbed calcium from saliva and hardened. Calculus cannot be removed by brushing and flossing. It must be removed by a dental professional. If it's not removed, calculus can cause periodontitis, which can destroy the bones, gums and tissue that support the teeth.

Cleaning all sides of your teeth is important when removing plaque. It's true, the National Institutes of Health says, that there aren't many large-scale studies of flossing. Researchers have found modest benefits from flossing in short-term studies. The Institute says there aren't many studies because of the expense of conducting them and because periodontitis can take years to develop. The studies that are done are pursuing another goal, such as plaque formation, rather than the onset of disease. In the end, the NIH says, flossing is a low-risk, low-cost way to clean your teeth.

If you really hate flossing, there are alternatives. You can try a water flosser, a floss holder or interdental brushes. You just need to disrupt the plaque before it hardens into a calculus and causes harm.

Ask your dentist to show you the proper flossing technique. Try using a piece of floss that's 18 inches or more, with the unused floss wrapped around the middle and ring fingers of both hands. Don't snap the floss through the contact area between the teeth. Instead, the NIH suggests sawing the floss through the tight points. You can try a floss threader to get the floss where it needs to go.

A dentist can always tell when a patient hasn't flossed, says NIH's Dr. Timothy J. Iafolla. Missing a day or two won't hurt, but flossing or another form of interdental cleaning should be done regularly to keep infection at bay. Try to stick to the same flossing pattern and don't skip around to make sure you're getting every tooth, every time.

Your Teeth and Your Heart

© ADOBE STOCK

What do your mouth and your heart have in common?
An awful lot, as it turns out.

There's a connection between poor oral health and poor heart health, including cardiovascular disease, heart attacks and stroke.

WHAT'S THE DEAL?

There are several theories as to why heart health and oral health are connected, Harvard University says. Some of them are that poor oral health kicks off the body's immune response, causing inflammation that can cause vascular damage throughout the body, including the heart and brain.

Another theory is that the bacteria that causes gingivitis and periodontitis also travels to blood vessels throughout the body, causing inflammation and damage. In turn, that damage causes tiny blood clots, heart attacks and stroke. Researchers have found the remnants of oral bacteria within atherosclerotic blood vessels from the mouth, Harvard says.

Lastly, it may be that there's not a direct connection, rather there's a third risk factor, such as smoking, poor access to health care and a lack of exercise that's a risk factor for both conditions.

IT'S NOT JUST THE HEART

The link between poor oral health and heart disease isn't the only one. Harvard says that periodontal disease, especially cases caused by the bacterium called Porphyromonas gingivalis, is linked to rheumatoid arthritis and pancreatic cancer.

Watch out if you already take medications for pre-existing conditions. Some medicines, such as decongestants, antihistamines, painkillers, diuretics and antidepressants can dry out your mouth. A dry mouth tends to be a dirtier mouth because saliva washes away food and neutralizes acids in the mouth, protecting you from bacteria that can lead to disease.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

The good news here is that this can mostly be avoided. The American Dental Association says you should be brushing your teeth twice a day for two minutes with fluoride toothpaste. Use floss regularly and follow the regimens your dental professionals recommend and see them for professional cleanings every six months.

Change out your toothbrush regularly to make sure you're getting the optimum cleaning. Use a mouthwash with the ADA Seal of Acceptance. That means that scientific evidence demonstrated the safety and efficacy of that product, which has been evaluated by the ADA Council on Scientific Affairs.

Getting Braces as an Adult

It's not just a teenage thing anymore. About 4 million Americans wear braces, and up to a quarter of them are adults, a study by Humana shows.

Some adults having their teeth aligned now didn't have them fixed as children or have teeth that have moved over time. They may also be more able to afford them now.

Ohio orthodontist Dale Anne Featheringham told the AARP that shifting teeth can be caused by adults losing teeth, losing bone around the teeth or just by the way you hold your mouth.

"Because the bones of the jaw and around your teeth and gums change as you age, problems can arise that prompt older people to seek orthodontic treatment," she said.

Misaligned teeth can be tough to clean, letting disease set in and causing other health problems.

"Every day we're learning more about the connection between the health of the mouth and overall health, and we're discovering that inflammation is linked to more serious problems like heart and lung diseases," Featheringham told AARP. "It used to be that the only adults who came in for treatment were those who had serious functional problems like the inability to eat or speak well. But now we're seeing significant numbers of adults seeking treatment for cosmetic improvement and overall wellness."

Experts warn to be wary of over-the-counter aligners and stick with professional treatment from an orthodontist. Do-it-yourself kits can be dangerous and cause tooth erosion, worsen any misalignment or even lead to jaw problems.

And for adults who aren't keen on a mouth full of metal, there are options. Newer technologies include 3D-printed aligners, which are thin pieces of clear plastic that fit over the top and bottom teeth and are barely noticeable. The clear aligners are worn all the time except when patients are eating or brushing their teeth.

Featheringham said most adult patients should plan on treatment lasting between 10 and 24 months, with adjustments every six to 12 weeks. The American Dental Association, using 2020 survey data, estimates that the average cost of braces or aligners for adults was $5,500. Orthodontists may use payment plans to make the costs easier to swallow.

Guess Who?

I am an actress born in Texas on April 25, 1969. I made my big screen debut in the film "Empire Records" in 1994. I am widely known for a number of films, including one movie musical and another in which I played a famous movie star from yesteryear, a role that earned me an Academy Award.

TECHNOLOGY

Must-Have Tech Upgrades for Your Life

Want to simplify your life, boost your productivity and work smarter? Incorporating some of the latest tech developments into your routine may be the answer. According to Authority Hacker, 77% of devices use some sort of Artificial Intelligence (AI), and 50% of consumers are becoming more optimistic about using the technology.

Check out some of the coolest technology upgrades you can make right now:

- 1. Boost Your Productivity: With so many distractions, it can be difficult to stay focused and productive in your personal and professional life. Cue AI to the rescue! The app RescueTime works silently on your computer or mobile device, recording how much time you spend on different programs or websites, and then creating a report providing insights into your productive time and distractions. If you struggle with organizing your email inbox, try SaneBox. It sorts messages for you and over time, evolves to improve your productivity. Apps like IFTT (If This, Than That) allow you to create automated commands to store files and things you need.
- 2. Upgrade Your Smartphone: Upgrading your smartphone will enhance security features, battery life, performance and the latest 5G network. Samsung just unveiled its latest S24 series and the new lineup is the first to leverage T-Mobile's uplink carrier aggregation. This means customers can get up to 90% faster uplink speeds than the previous Samsung lineup, making things like video uploads nearly twice as fast. The Samsung S24 series introduces Galaxy AI, with easy, real-time live language translations of voice and text, Circle to Search with Google, to help streamline your internet searches, and Generative Edit to perfect your photos. New and existing T-Mobile customers can get a Samsung Galaxy S24+ for free or up to $1,000 off any in the series with an eligible trade-in on the Go5G Plus or Go5G Next rate plans. Learn more at <https://www.t-mobile.com/devices/new-samsung-phone-updates>.

- 3. Smarten Your Home: From automatic door locks to smart plugs, thermostats and appliances, you can give your home a much-needed tech upgrade. Use smart plugs to control lighting in your home from an app, and a smart door lock with features like remote access and fingerprint ID so you can go key-free.

- 4. Enhance Your Network Experience: The network your phone relies on to access the latest technology may need an upgrade, and now there's a way to test out another wireless provider's network before making the switch. T-Mobile's Network Pass allows you and your family to keep your current wireless provider, phones and phone numbers and try out T-Mobile's network free for three months. You'll get access to T-Mobile's largest, fastest and most awarded 5G network and the ability to compare your network performance to pick the best wireless provider for you. The best part, it all can be done online via an app, without having to go into a store.

- 5. Give Visual Search a Try: Google, Amazon and Pinterest now allow you to use images to search for similar items or products online. You can even use this feature to translate text in different languages.

Ever feel like you're treading water? With so many apps, devices and features designed to streamline tasks and to-dos, adapting the latest tech can help you create a more productive life.
